

THE FUTURE OF RECRUITMENT

Recruiting the right person to the right role has never been easy, but there are simple steps that you can take to improve your chances of attracting and engaging the best candidates. Tried and tested recruitment methods may produce satisfactory results, but could new tools, driven by the evolution of technology, give your organisation an edge? With a volatile jobs market expected over the next few years, now is the time to consider the workforce you need and how to achieve it.

Join us and our panel of hand-picked experts for a recruitment focused seminar and panel discussion, as we discuss the practical, commercial and legal issues around this ever important issue.
